Hills Like White Elephants

Ernest Hemingway's "Hills Like White Elephants" tells the story of a man and woman drinking beer and anise liqueur while they wait at a train station in Spain. The man is attempting to convince the woman to get an abortion, but the woman is ambivalent about it. The story's tension comes from their terse, barbed dialogue.

Essay on Symbolism in "Hills Like White Elephants" Sources
Assignment Hills generally represent something positive in nature; in this tale, they tell a different story. These hills are white and by using the image of them being shaped like elephants, Hemingway provides the story with the symbol of a womb, soft looking and pale, growing beneath the seemingly calm surface.
